Introduction ............................................. i

Research Articles
Structuring the Classroom for Performance: Cooperative Learning with Instructor-Assigned Teams
by Gary D. Koppenhaver and Charles B. Shrader .......................... 1

Knowledge Acquisition and Memory Effects Involving an Expert System Designed as a Learning Tool for Internal Control Assessment
by Mary Jane Lenard ........................................ 23

Testing for the Transfer of Tacit Knowledge: Making a Case for Implicit Learning
by William Benjamin Martz, Jr. and Morgan M. Shepherd ........... 41

The Impact of Coordination Methods on the Enhancement of Business Writing by Edmund Prater and Hyeun-Suk Rhee ............................. 57

No Downturn Here: Tracking E-business Programs in Higher Education
by Marcelline Fusilier and Subhash Durlabhji ....................... 73

Problem-Based Learning for Production and Operations Management
by John J. Kanet and Mehmet Barut ................................ 99

Teaching Briefs
MBA Students and Corporate Citizenship: Incorporating Industry-Specific Service-Learning Projects into the Curriculum
by Amy Kenworthy-U’Ren .......................................... 119

Serving Up the Red Beads Experience
by Christine M. Wright and Michael E. Smith ....................... 127

Spreadsheet Modeling of Spatial Problems for the Classroom
by Michael M. Pearson and Lee Mundell ............................ 133

Use of Brief Collaborative Quizzes on New Quantitative Lecture Material
by Douglas W. Mallenby and Michel L. Mallenby .................... 141

Critical Thinking Exercise: Causes of Premature Death in America
by Paula E. Bobrowski and Pamela L. Cox ......................... 145
Not Another Stats Course! A Problem-Based Quantitative Methods Course for (Reluctant) Doctoral Students

by Suzan Burton ...................................................... 151

Will This Be on the Exam? or, How to Get Students to Study More

by Sandra E. Strasser ........................................... 155