Journal of Small Business Management
Mission Statement and Guidelines for Authors
Please see our website for more details: www.jsbm.org

The primary purpose of the Journal of Small Business Management (JSBM) is to publish quality research articles in the fields of small business management and entrepreneurship. As the official journal of the International Council for Small Business (ICSB), the JSBM is recognized as a primary instrument for projecting and supporting the goals and objectives of this organization, which include education, research, and the free exchange of ideas. The JSBM’s readership is largely academic and international; all manuscripts for the Journal of Small Business Management should be prepared with this audience in mind. Topics of interest to JSBM readers include:

2. Consulting to Small Enterprises
3. Entrepreneurship
4. New Venture Creation
5. Education Programs for Entrepreneurship and Small Enterprises
6. Small Enterprise Finance
7. Family Enterprises
8. franchising
9. Women and Minorities in Small Enterprises
10. Government, the Economy, and the Small Enterprise
11. Legal Issues in Small Enterprises
12. Marketing and the Small Enterprises
13. Internationalization, Exporting, and the Small Enterprise

The JSBM publishes two types of articles:

Articles: These manuscripts should address research issues in a scientifically rigorous way; however, we encourage the incorporation of pragmatic advice for practitioners based on the research results. Manuscripts should not exceed 20 pages (excluding tables and references). Occasionally, a longer manuscript that presents forefront research on small business and entrepreneurship will be accepted for review. These longer manuscripts should not exceed 30 pages (excluding tables and references). Both the shorter and longer manuscripts should use statistical techniques and address research issues in a way that is comprehensible to the small business researcher.

Global Perspectives (formerly “International Notes”): These shorter pieces address small business issues occurring outside the U.S. Manuscripts intended for Global Perspectives should not exceed 10 pages (excluding tables and references list), with no more than three tables or other exhibits.

No manuscript will be considered for publication in the JSBM that has been published elsewhere or submitted elsewhere for review.

Article manuscripts undergo blind review, typically by three members of the JSBM Editorial Advisory Board, plus review by the editor. Manuscripts for Global Perspectives undergo editorial review only. An article achieves full acceptance status only after all revisions required by the editor and reviewers have been made and the manuscript meets all JSBM citation and format specifications. Detailed specifications are available on the JSBM website: <www.jsbm.org>.

Submission procedures

The JSBM is now accepting only digital manuscripts. Email as an attached file or mail a disk. The WordPerfect or MS Word file should contain (in this order): (1) a cover page (with title, author(s) names and contact information, type of article, and topic); (2) biographical statements for each author (position and research interests); (3) article abstract; and (4) the article, with the Reference List and all tables and figures at the end.

E-mail: Send file as an attachment. Put “[first author’s last name] Submission” (for example: Smith Submission) on the subject line. Send to: jsbm@wvu.edu.

Carrier mail: Mail disk to: Editor, Journal of Small Business Management, Bureau of Business and Economic Research, West Virginia University, P.O. Box 6025, Morgantown, WV 26506-6025.

Unless otherwise noted, opinions and conclusions expressed in the JSBM are those of the authors and are not necessarily those of the editors, staff, or officers of the co-sponsoring organizations. In addition, no advertisement in the JSBM should be considered an endorsement of the product or service involved.
International Council for Small Business advancing entrepreneurship worldwide

What is ICSB?
The International Council is a non-profit organization devoted to continuing management education for entrepreneurs and small business.

The Council was founded on the belief that enlightened small business management is necessary for successful profitable small business, that successful small businesses are essential to our national economy, and that entrepreneurship needs to be fostered to stimulate a dynamic and growing economic system.

Who Can Belong To ICSB?
Membership in the International Council for Small Business is open to all persons interested in improving administration and operating management knowledge and skills. Council membership is represented by individuals and agencies from:

- BUSINESS—Independent entrepreneurs and their employees
- ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CENTERS—Minority, community, and other concerned officers and employees
- EDUCATION—Secondary, college, graduate, distributive and adult education
- PROFESSIONS—Management consultants, accountants, lawyers
- TRADE ASSOCIATIONS—Directors, membership
- GOVERNMENT—Officials in federal, state, local, or special agencies that are concerned with small business

Membership Classes
There are three classes of membership available in ICSB—individual, organizational, and student. An individual membership is entitled to one vote. Organizational memberships may have up to three persons designated as voting members. Many colleges, universities, and businesses select the organizational category. Student memberships are also welcomed, at a special annual rate. For specific information regarding fees, see the application for membership in this section.
