EVJ Supplement for 2011 Annual Convention of the American Association of Equine Practitioners

Instructions for authors

Equine Veterinary Journal Supplement for 2011 Annual Convention of the American Association of Equine Practitioners: Individuals submitting scientific papers for presentation at the 2011 Annual Convention of the AAEP have the option of submitting their paper to be considered for publication in a special EVJ Supplement that will be published jointly by the EVJ and AAEP. The papers must conform to EVJ’s guidelines on general articles, clinical evidence articles, or short communications, which are available at “Authors Guidelines” at the following website:

http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/10.1001/(ISSN)2042-3306/homepage/ForAuthors.html

Authors are encouraged to make use of Wiley Online library’s supporting information section to include video and other media that will enhance the impact and clinical usefulness of their work.

As the review processes for the Convention and EVJ supplement will occur independently, authors must submit the same paper and an Abstract (< 250 words) for review by the AAEP’s Educational Programs Committee. The paper and abstract must be submitted at http://aaep2011.abstractcentral.com (see http://www.aaep.org/call_4_papers.htm for additional details).

Papers accepted for presentation at the Convention and for publication by EVJ will be included in the Supplement. Abstracts from papers accepted for presentation at the Convention but not accepted by EVJ will be published in the Convention Proceedings.

Papers not accepted for presentation at the Convention, but accepted for publication by EVJ, will appear in a subsequent issue of the journal.

The deadline for submission of papers for the EVJ Supplement is 15th March 2011. These manuscripts should be submitted online at http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/evj, and the authors should specify that the paper is being submitted for the “AAEP 2011 Supplement”.

The review of articles will be completed by 1st June 2011 and revisions from authors must be completed by 15th June 2011. The EVJ Supplement will be available online at the time of the Convention.
