ANNUAL LECTURE 2007

PLURALISM IN CONTEMPORARY PSYCHOANALYSIS: THEORY AND PRACTICE

JEAN WHITE

Saturday, 29th September 2007 at 11.00 am

At the British Association of Psychotherapists,
37 Mapesbury Road, London NW2 4HJ

In many distinguished fields of learning and knowledge – philosophy and contemporary physics, to name but two – it has sometimes been necessary for a plurality of theories to prevail. The reasons why this is so can be accounted for within psychoanalytic theory itself.

In this lecture, Jean White will explore the weighting given to the recognition and negotiation of difference as an aspect of psychic growth within contemporary Independent, post-Kleinian and Lacanian clinical theory. She will also look at the psychopathology attributed to single vision within these three schools of psychoanalysis.

Finally, she will review some of the implications of these groundbreaking theories for clinical work and for the evolution of the psychoanalytic psychotherapies as a profession.

The lecture will be followed by a reception with drinks and canapés

Tickets £25.00 per person

Tickets from: The Office Manager, BAP, 37 Mapesbury Road, London NW2 4HJ.
Tel: 020 8452 9823 or email admin@bap-psychotherapy.org

Please send me ……. Ticket(s). I enclose a cheque for £ ……. for the lecture on 29th September 2007, payable to the: British Association of Psychotherapists.

Name: ………………………………….. Organisation: …………………………………..

Address: ………………………………………………………………………………………..

Telephone No: …………………………….. e-mail address: …………………………………

Please enclose a self addressed envelope