

Tradition and Creativity:
Reframing Analysis in a Changing World

Thursday 15th May to Sunday 18th May 2008

Hotel San Rocco, Orta San Giulio, Italy

'It is not possible to be original except on the basis of tradition' (D.W.Winnicott)

This residential conference offers an opportunity to consider the ways in which analytical psychology can make a creative response to the social, cultural and scientific developments of the early 21st century while maintaining its roots in the accumulated knowledge and experience of the analytic tradition.

Speakers will include Sue Austin, Stefano Carta, Massimo Giannoni, Christopher Hauke, Jean Knox, and Vittorio Linguardi. The opening address will be given, in Italian, by Umberto Galimberti. (It will be available in English prior to the address.)

BREAK-OUT WORKSHOPS & PANEL SESSIONS

Panel presentations and/or break-out workshops will be on the following topics:

- a) how traditional theories and practices in analytical psychology are developing and being updated;
- b) how contemporary theories can be incorporated into clinical practice and effectively taught to trainees;
- c) how new challenges and potential threats to the future of analysis can be addressed.

A wide range of creative explorations and critiques relevant to the clinical practice of analysis are scheduled.

CONFERENCE VENUE & ACCOMMODATION

The Conference venue and accommodation are both at San Rocco Hotel, Orta San Giulio, Italy

VIIIth INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Thursday 15th May to Sunday 18th May 2008

Hotel San Rocco, Orta San Giulio, Italy

Registration form

The conference will take place in the picturesque and romantic setting of Lake Orta, one of the smaller and most attractive lakes of Northern Italy. Situated approximately 40 minutes from Milan Malpensa Airport, Lake Orta has inspired writers such as Balzac and Browning and, in 1882, was the setting for the inspirational meeting between Nietzsche and Lou Andreas Salome.
