Makedonia Palace Hotel

Thessaloniki, Greece

The Editors of JBFA invite submissions of high quality accounting or finance research papers on topics related to capital markets. Relevant topics could include, but are not restricted to, the following areas:

- Asset pricing: theory and evidence
- Earnings quality, earnings management, and their consequences
- Economic theories of accounting and accounting-based equity valuation models
- Investment analysis, portfolio management, and portfolio performance evaluation
- Corporate financial communication beyond financial statements
- Corporate financial decision-making (e.g. capital structure and investment appraisal)
- Economic theories of corporate governance

Original papers to be considered for the conference should be submitted no later than January 6, 2006, and preferably earlier. Submissions to the conference will be treated as submissions to the Journal of Business Finance and Accounting, and should not be under review with any other journal. All papers will be refereed and decisions on accepted papers will be notified to authors by the end of March 2006. Subject to satisfactory revision, accepted conference papers will be published in a Special Issue of JBFA in 2007. Accommodation will be provided by JBFA for one author of each selected paper. Conference participants will be responsible for making their own travel arrangements.

Competition for places at the conference is normally high. In the interest of a balanced conference program, some papers may be accepted, subject to revision, for later publication in JBFA, but not for presentation at the conference.

Manuscripts should be submitted via the JBFA electronic editorial office at <http://services.bepress.com/jbfa>. A submission fee of $85 is required, payable by credit card. Please indicate that the paper is a conference submission by selecting the appropriate option during the submission process.
