

Reviewer's name:

.....

Reviewer's address:

.....

.....

Title of Book Review ("Review"):

.....

Manuscript no. (if known):

.....

Names of all authors in the order in which they appear in the Review:

.....

To enable Blackwell Publishing Ltd (Blackwell Publishing) to publish your Review in Parliamentary History (the Journal) on behalf of The Parliamentary History Yearbook Trust, the ownership of copyright must be established. The Review is deemed to include all material submitted for publication ;the text, figures, tables, Reviewer affiliation details and all supplementary material accompanying the Review.

Please read this form carefully, sign at the bottom (if your employer owns copyright in your work, arrange for your employer to sign where marked), and return the ORIGINAL to the address below as quickly as possible. (US Federal Government authors please note: your Review is in the public domain.)

Your Review will not be published unless a Copyright Assignment Form has been signed and received by Blackwell Publishing.

Please note: You retain the following rights to re-use the Review, as long as you do not sell or reproduce the Review or any part of it for commercial purposes (i.e. for monetary gain on your own account or on that of a third party, or for indirect financial gain by a commercial entity). These rights apply without needing to seek permission from Blackwell Publishing.

- Prior to acceptance: We ask that as part of the publishing process you acknowledge that the Review has been submitted to the Journal. You will not prejudice acceptance if you use the unpublished Review, in form and content as submitted for publication in the Journal, in the following ways:
 - sharing print or electronic copies of the Review with colleagues;
 - posting an electronic version of the Review on your own personal website, on your employer's website/repository and on free public servers in your subject area.
- After acceptance: Provided that you give appropriate acknowledgement to the Journal, The Parliamentary History Yearbook Trust and Blackwell Publishing, and full bibliographic reference for the Review when it is published, you may use the accepted version of the Review as originally submitted for publication in the Journal, and updated to include any amendments made after peer review, in the following ways:
 - you may share print or electronic copies of the Review with colleagues;
 - you may use all or part of the Review and abstract, without revision or modification, in personal compilations or other publications of your own work;
 - you may use the Review within your employer's institution or company for educational or research purposes, including use in course packs;
 - Twenty-four months after publication you may post an electronic version of the Review on your own personal website, on your employer's website/repository and on free public servers in your subject area. Electronic versions of the accepted Review must include a link to the published version of the Review together with the following text: 'The definitive version is available at www.blackwell-synergy.com'.

Please note that you are not permitted to post the Blackwell Publishing PDF version of the Review online.

All requests by third parties to re-use the Review in whole or in part will be handled by Blackwell Publishing. Any permission fees will be retained by the Journal. All requests to adapt substantial parts of the Review in another publication (including publication by Blackwell Publishing) will be subject to your approval (which is deemed to be given if we have not heard from you within 4 weeks of your approval being sought by us writing to you at your last notified address). Please address any queries to journalsrights@oxon.blackwellpublishing.com.

In signing this Agreement:

1. You hereby warrant that this Review is an original work, has not been published before and is not being considered for publication elsewhere in its final form either in printed or electronic form;
2. You hereby warrant that you have obtained permission from the copyright holder to reproduce in the Review (in all media including print and electronic form) material not owned by you, and that you have acknowledged the source;
3. You hereby warrant that this Review contains no violation of any existing copyright or other third party right or any material of an obscene, indecent, libellous or otherwise unlawful nature and that to the best of your knowledge this Review does not infringe the rights of others;
4. You will indemnify and keep indemnified the Editors, The Parliamentary History Yearbook Trust and Blackwell Publishing against all claims and expenses (including legal costs and expenses) arising from any breach of this warranty and the other warranties on your behalf in this Agreement.

By signing this Agreement you agree that Blackwell Publishing may arrange for the Review to be:

- Published in the above Journal, and sold or distributed, on its own, or with other related material;
- Published in multi-contributor book form or other edited compilations by Blackwell Publishing;
- Reproduced and/or distributed (including the abstract) throughout the world in printed, electronic or any other medium whether now known or hereafter devised, in all languages, and to authorize third parties (including Reproduction Rights Organizations) to do the same;
- You agree to Blackwell Publishing using any images from the Review on the cover of the Journal, and in any marketing material.

You authorize Blackwell Publishing to act on your behalf to defend the copyright in the Review if anyone should infringe it, although there is no obligation on Blackwell Publishing to act in this way.

Blackwell Publishing undertakes that every copy of the Review published by Blackwell Publishing will include the full bibliographic reference for your Review, together with the copyright statement.

BOX A: to be completed if copyright belongs to you

You hereby assign to The Parliamentary History Yearbook Trust copyright in the Review including the abstract for the full period of copyright and all renewals, extensions, revisions and revivals throughout the world in any form and in all languages. The Parliamentary History Yearbook Trust may assign the rights granted in this Copyright Assignment Form.

BOX B: to be completed if copyright belongs to your employer (e.g. HMSO, CSIRO)

The copyright holder grants The Parliamentary History Yearbook Trust an exclusive licence to publish the Review including the abstract in printed and electronic form, in all languages, and to administer subsidiary rights agreements with third parties for the full period of copyright and all renewals, extensions, revisions and revivals.

Print Name of Copyright holder:

.....

This will be printed on the copyright line on each page of the Review. It is your responsibility to provide the correct information of the copyright holder.

BOX C: to be completed if the Review is in the public domain (e.g. US Federal Government employees) You certify that the Review is in the public domain. No licence to publish is therefore necessary.

Signature (on behalf of all co-authors (if any)) Print name:
..... Date:

If your employer claims copyright in your work, this form must also be signed below by a person authorized to sign for and on behalf of your employer, as confirmation that your employer accepts the terms of this licence.

Signature (on behalf of the employer of the author (s)) Print name:.....
..... Print name of employer:
..... Date:

The rights conveyed in this assignment will only apply upon acceptance of your Review for publication.

Data Protection: The Publisher may store your name and contact details in electronic format in order to correspond with you about the publication of your Review in the Journal. We would like to contact you from time to time with information about new Blackwell publications and services in your subject area. (For European contributors, this may involve transfer of your personal data outside the European Economic Area.) Please check the following boxes if you are happy to be contacted in this way:

(conventional mailing) (via e-mail)

Please return the signed form to:

Dr Jason Peacey
Reviews Editor, Parliamentary History
Department of History
University College London
Gower Street
London
WC1E 6BT