British Journal of Special Education

published by Wiley-Blackwell on behalf of nasen

Re-advertisement

Nasen is seeking a person with a distinctive approach to continue to build upon the excellent work of Richard Byers, the current editor. The post will commence on April 5th 2010.

The position requires an individual with a wide knowledge of special educational needs, an ability to develop and maintain an extensive network of practitioners, contacts, writers and commentators on SEN, a commitment to produce a first class, international journal, and proven writing skills.

The appointment will be for three years in the first instance, although this could be extended at nasen's discretion.

A fee of £5800 per annum will be paid on a freelance basis. BJSE is produced four times per year. You will be responsible to nasen, nasen's Editorial Board and work closely with Wiley-Blackwell who publish the journal worldwide.

Reasonable expenses outlined as part of the production budget will also be reimbursed.

- Closing Date: 4.00 p.m. on Friday 29th January 2010.
- Interviews to take place during February at nasen House,
- Tamworth, Staffordshire.

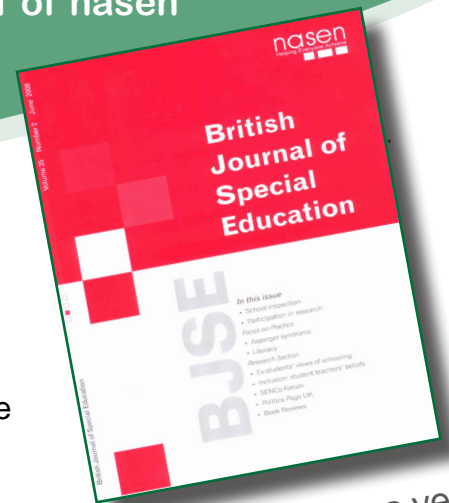

Further details and application packs are available from nasen House.
