

Dear Author,

The Association of Women's Health, Obstetric and Neonatal Nurses (AWHONN) is pleased to consider your contribution for publication in the Journal of Obstetric, Gynecologic, and Neonatal Nursing (the "Journal.") Before AWHONN will consider the Contribution, all authors of the contribution must sign and return the Copyright Transfer form enclosed. If you have incorporated into the Contribution any materials of third parties, AWHONN will need the written permission of those third parties to use and publish those materials. The terms and conditions of the Transfer of Copyright shall become effective, retroactive to the date of Contributor's execution, if and when AWHONN accepts the Contribution for publication in the Journal.

If you wrote the Contribution or your portion thereof within the scope of your employment, your employer owns the copyright and will need to sign the Copyright Transfer form. If you are a government employee and wrote the Contribution or your portion thereof within the scope of your employment, your portion of the Contribution would be in the public domain, you only need to sign the portion of the Transfer of Copyright regarding work in the public domain, crossing out the rest of the form.

Consideration of your work is no guarantee of publication. If the Contribution is accepted for publication, AWHONN will contact you and the Transfer of Copyright becomes effective. If the Contribution is not accepted, no rights are transferred to AWHONN.

Upon acceptance for publication, each Author's use of the as-submitted Contribution is subject to the terms and conditions of the Transfer of Copyright. After publication, Authors may use all or part of the as-published Contribution in any book or article written by the Author, providing the correct citation of the as-published contribution accompanies the text within the book or article. Each Author for whom AWHONN has received an address of record receives one (1) copy of the issue of the Journal in which the Contribution is first published.

If you are a federal employee and your contribution was created by you within the scope of your employment with the federal government or a branch of the federal government, please acknowledge by signing this letter below and where indicated on the Transfer of Copyright form that your work is in the public domain.

All authors may make photocopies of all or part of the Contribution for use in classroom teaching. Once a Contribution is accepted for publication, Authors may not post either the as-submitted version of the Contribution or the as-published version on-line or make any use of the Contribution except as expressly authorized in the Transfer of Copyright.

All requests to re-use or reprint the Contribution, in whole or in part, is handled by AWHONN's publisher, Blackwell Publishing. Any permission or license fees will be retained by Blackwell Publishing or AWHONN. Please address any queries to journalsrights@oxon.blackwellpublishing.com.
