CALL FOR PAPERS

International Journal of Older People Nursing

Have you considered publishing your article in International Journal of Older People Nursing?

The Editors welcome scholarly papers on all aspects of older people nursing including policy, management, education and research related to practice. If you would like to submit your work for consideration, please contact the Editorial Office:

Editorial Office: Nursing Development Centre, 3rd Floor, Bostock House, Royal Victoria Hospital, Grosvenor Road, Belfast BT12 6BA, Northern Ireland
Email: nursing.gerontology@royalhospitals.n-i.nhs.uk

International Journal of Older People Nursing was launched in 2004 in association with Journal of Clinical Nursing. Two issues are published per year and are available free with every subscription to Journal of Clinical Nursing in both print and online.

International Journal of Older People Nursing is an international forum for advancing knowledge in gerontological nursing. The Journal publishes scholarly and accessible material that challenges assumptions and provokes new ideas, helping nurses develop and inform their practice and engage in the debates about the health and social care services for older people.

The journal consists of two sections: scholarly, peer-reviewed original articles, and peer-reviewed practice development. Within practice development are three commissioned scholarly papers: literature scan, application to practice and a review paper. Each issue features practice development on a key aspect of older people nursing.

Author Guidelines

The Editors welcome scholarly papers on all aspects of older people nursing, including policy, management, education and research related to practice. All manuscripts are double blind refereed. Submission should be exclusively to the International Journal of Older People Nursing and authors will be expected to conform to the normal ethical aspects of investigation and copyright. Accepted, papers will become the copyright of the Journal.

Authors will be asked to provide both disk and hard copies of the submitted and final accepted manuscript.

The Editors will decide on the time of publication and retain the right to modify the style of a contribution; major changes will be agreed with the author(s) before production of proofs. All submissions (including original manuscripts; books for review; news about nursing research; course developments and manuscripts) should be sent to:

Presentation of Manuscripts

Three copies of the manuscript, tables and figures should be submitted. Papers should be between 3000 and 5000 words in length, typed on one side only of A4 paper or international equivalent using double spacing and a wide margin on each side of the text. The numbers of words used, excluding abstract and references, should be specified. Details of sources of research funding, other support, and acknowledgements should be included. Contributions to the manuscript should be indicated, by initials, at the end including study design, data collection and analysis and manuscript preparation.

The top sheet should display the manuscript title, and a shortened version, authors' names, professional and academic qualifications, positions and places of work and the address to which all correspondence and proofs should be addressed. Email addresses should also be given wherever possible and fax and telephone numbers should include international dialling codes.

Figures, illustrations, legends, tables, references and acknowledgements should be prepared on separate sheets. Their appropriate insertion points should be indicated in the text margin in handwriting.

Approval for reproduction/modification of any material (including figures and tables) published elsewhere should be obtained from authors/copyright holders before submission of the manuscript. Contributors are responsible for any copyright fee involved.

The text should be preceded by a structured abstract not exceeding 300 words using the following headings, where possible: Background; Aims and Objectives; Design; Methods; Results; Conclusions; Relevance to Clinical Practice. The abstract should accurately reflect the content of the paper. The summary should not include references or abbreviations.

The summary should be followed by up to 6 keywords which accurately identify the paper's subject, purpose and focus.

Critical reviews of literature on any area of research relevant to Older People Nursing are invited. Submissions should not exceed 5000 words and should be structured as: Introduction; Aims; Objectives and Methods; Results; Discussion; Conclusion. The methods should describe the search strategy in terms of databases, search terms and data parameters. Inclusion and exclusion criteria for papers should be clearly described and the conclusions should make the relevance to clinical practice clear. A structured abstract, not exceeding 300 words, should be provided under the headings: Background stating what is already known about this topic; Aims and Objectives; Conclusions stating what this study adds to the topics; Relevance to Clinical Practice.

Headings within the text should conform to the following convention: upper case for main headings, lower case for major sub-headings, italics for subsidiary sub-headings. Spelling should conform with that used in The Concise Oxford Dictionary and abbreviations with those in Units, Symbols and Abbreviations (1994) published by the Royal Society of Medicine Press, 1 Wimpole Street, London W1M 8AE.

Abbreviations should be used sparingly and only if a lengthy name or expression is repeated throughout the manuscript. When used, the abbreviated name or expression should be cited in full at first usage, followed by the accepted abbreviation in parentheses. Quotations included appropriately within the body of the text should be marked by single inverted commas. Longer, or self-contained quotations should be preceded and followed by a double space; neither single inverted commas nor italics should then be used. Statistical methods used should be defined and, where appropriate, supported by references.

References

All work referred to in the manuscript should be fully cited. References within the text should cite the authors' names followed by the date of publication, in date order, e.g. (Lewis, 1975; Barnett, 1992; Chalmers, 1994). Where there are three or more authors, the first author's name followed by et al. will suffice, e.g. (Barder et al., 1994), but all authors should be cited in the reference list. Page numbers should be given in the text for all quotations, e.g. (Chalmers 1994 p. 7). All references should be cited from primary sources. When a paper is cited, the reference list should include authors' surnames and initials, date of publication, title of paper, name of journal in full (not abbreviated), volume number (and issue number where relevant), and first and last page numbers. Example: Barder L., Slimmer L. & Lesage J. (1994) Depression and issues of control among elderly people in health care settings. Journal of Advanced Nursing 20, 596-604. When a book is cited, the title should be stated, followed by the publisher and town, county/state (and country if necessary) of publication. Example: Wilson G (2000) Understanding Old Age. Sage Publications, London. Where the reference relates to a chapter in an edited book, details of author and editors should be given as well as publisher, place of publication, and the first and last page numbers. Example: Bytheway B. (1997) Talking about old age: The Theoretical Basis of Social Gerontology. In Critical Approaches to Ageing and Later Life (Jamieson A. et al., eds.), Open University Press, Buckingham, pp. 7-15. References stated as being 'in press' must have been accepted for publication and a letter of proof from the relevant journal must accompany the final accepted manuscript.

The reference list should be prepared on a separate sheet and be in alphabetical order and chronological order by the first authors' names.

Illustrations

On final submission of an accepted manuscript. Always enclose reproduction-quality hard copies of your figures and label with the figure number. Computer-generated artwork should be saved in EPS or TIFF format, ensuring that the appropriate resolution is used. Our electronic artwork information pages at <http://www.blackwell-science.com/elecmed/digill.htm> contain full details and should be read carefully to ensure that your figures comply with our requirements.

Colour Illustrations

It is the policy of the International Journal of Older People Nursing for authors to pay the full cost for the reproduction of their colour artwork. Therefore, please note that if there is colour artwork in your manuscript when it is accepted for publication, Blackwell Publishing require you to complete and return a colour work agreement form before your paper can be published. This form can be downloaded as a PDF* from the internet. The web address for the form is: http://www.blackwellpublishing.com/pdf/sub3000\_X\_CoVV.pdf

Once completed, please return the form to the Production Editor at the address below. If you are unable to access the internet, or are unable to download the form, please contact the Production Editor:

Proofs and Offprints

Proofs will be sent to the author submitting the paper and must be returned promptly. This will allow correction of printers' and similar errors. Major changes will not be entertained and authors may be charged for excessive amendments at this stage. Proofs will be sent via email as an Acrobat PDF file.

PDF offprints will be supplied free for each paper published.
