

Transactions of the Institute of British Geographers

Women and Geography

Launched to celebrate International Women's Day, the first virtual issue of Transactions of the Institute of British Geographers is on 'Women and Geography' and is now available free online

Reflecting the importance and diversity of feminist research within the discipline, this virtual issue brings together a range of landmark articles in the field. Key themes include research on feminist historiographies of geography; feminist theory and methodology in geography; and substantive areas of ongoing concern for women, including geographies of work, fear, domestic violence and the family. Nine articles published from 1991 to 2008 form the main contents of the virtual issue. Several of these articles include links to others published in Transactions that address women, travel and the history of geography; feminist methodology; gender and work; geographies of home; and family and relatedness.

I hope that you will be able to read the papers in the virtual issue, and recommend it to colleagues and students.

With best wishes
Alison Blunt
Editor, Transactions of the Institute of British Geographers

Contents - Free access

- Toward a feminist historiography of geography

M. Domosh

Links to other articles on women, travel and the history of geography:

Cutting power lines within the palace? Countering paternity and Eurocentrism in the 'geographical tradition'

C, McEwan

British women travellers and constructions of racial difference across the nineteenth century American West,

K. M. Morin

Gender, nature, empire: women naturalists in nineteenth century British travel literature

J. K. Guelke, and K. M. Morin

Do we need a feminist historiography of geography. And if we do, what should it be?'

D. R. Stoddart,

Beyond the frontiers of geographical knowledge

M. Domosh

- The "Map Girls": British women geographers' war work, shifting gender boundaries and reflections on the history of geography

A. Maddrell

- Doing gender: feminism, feminists and research methods in human geography

L. McDowell

Links to other articles on gender and work:

The particularities of place: geographies of gendered moral responsibilities among Latvian migrant workers in 1950s Britain

L. McDowell

The geography of gender divisions of labour in Britain

S. Duncan

Flexibility, gender and part-time work: evidence from a survey of the economically

S. Pinch and A. Storey

- Doing gender and development: understanding empowerment and local gender relations
J. Sharp, J. Briggs, H Yacoub and N. Hamed
- Feminism and the spaces of transformation
J Robinson
- Life without father and Ford: the new gender order of Post-Fordism
L. McDowell
- Social geographies of women's fear of crime
R. Pain
- 'I must get out': the geographies of domestic violence
M Warrington

Links to other articles on geographies of home:

The Cinderella complex – narrating Spanish women's history, the home and visions of equality: developing new margins

R. Mohammad

Imperial geographies of home: British domesticity in India

A. Blunt

- Mothers in the making? Exploring liminality in cyber/space
C. Madge and H O'Connor

Links to other articles on family and relatedness:

Geographies of relatedness

C. Nash

Family photographs and domestic spacings: a case study

G. Rose

Women and children last: the poverty and marginalization of one-parent families

H. Winchester

Sign-up for email contents alerts

www.blackwellpublishing.com/tran

